

Separated? Need a child contact centre?

Find your local centre through NACCC's improved web search

Goto www.naccc.org.uk and click on 'Find a Centre'

Parents, grandparents, and other family members needing to keep in touch with their child following separation can now search on NACCC's website to find contact services in their area. In response to user feedback, NACCC has improved the search facilities on its 'Find a Centre' service.

Easy search: just tick which service you need and enter your town or postcode. Your local centres will be displayed. Contact them or check their website for more info...

STEP 1: Which service do you need?

Choose what's best for your child

NACCC accredited centres offer different services depending on your situation.

Please TICK which service you require

- Supported contact

Keeps children in touch with parents if trust has broken down or communication is difficult. Parents do not have to meet; several families use facilities at the same time.
- Supervised contact

Is there a potential risk of harm? The centre ensures the physical safety and emotional well-being of children in a one-to-one observed setting.
- Handover

The centre is used for a short period: drop off / pick up point. Again, parents do not have to meet.

Supported contact is offered by over 300 of centres round the UK and keeps children in touch with parents if trust has broken down or communication is difficult. Parents do not have to meet and several families use facilities at the same time.

Supervised contact is offered by nearly 150 centres and is essential if there is a potential risk of harm to the child needing contact with a family member. The centre ensures the physical safety and emotional well-being of children in a one-to-one observed setting.

Handover service is offered by the majority of centres which are used for a short period as a drop off / pick up point. Again, parents do not have to meet.

Centres offering supervised contact may also offer Specialised supervised services including supervised contact assessment, indirect contact, escorted contact and life-story identity contact.
